I have known [redacted] for more than 7 years and we have undergone positive cooperation in the implementation of the Project "[redacted] the development of financial education in the Russian Federation".

As part of the cooperation program, we (the Faculty of Economics of Lomonosov Moscow State University), together with the "[redacted] eracy" under the leadership of [redacted] have successfully implemented a program of financial literacy quests in online and offline formats for young people. Thus, as part of the "[redacted] Month for Children and Youth, as well as the Savings Week in 2018, city quests for high school students on financial literacy using museum and architectural objects in Kaliningrad, St. Petersburg and Moscow, as well as for young people in Volgograd, Vladivostok, Kazan and Moscow were held jointly with Moscow State University. In addition, city quests on urban financial infrastructure were implemented in Volgograd, Vladivostok, Kazan and Moscow. This format has proven itself well and was recommended to the regions for replication as part of mass events to improve financial literacy.

Also in the period of 2018-2020, online quests for children and youth were developed and implemented. These events consisted of research, analytical and calculation tasks, which were combined in the game mechanics and allowed to hold competitions between teams from all of 85 regions of Russia. The total number of participants in the quests held during the [redacted] [redacted] exceeded 100,000 people.

[redacted] has been engaged in the topic of financial education for more than 15 years, so, for example, we are pleased to see how [redacted] develops projects for clients of financial institutions, for a female audience, for employees of different companies, and others. During our cooperation, [redacted] has established herself as an excellent leader and an enthusiastic team member who can solve tasks on time and in the required volume. It is important to note [redacted] ability to think creatively and to captivate the specialists working on the project with her ideas.

[redacted] is happy to share her experience. She has repeatedly participated in events organised by our faculty, including a round tables dedicated to the development of financial consulting standards and the development of a professional community of financial literacy specialists etc. [redacted] also actively studies and adopts the experience of colleagues and applies it in her projects aimed at improving [redacted].

I am sure that the knowledge she will get will help her to develop projects, and will contribute to applying the best practices of rationalisation to improve the financial behaviour of consumers in Russia.

If you need any additional information about [REDACTED], I will be happy to answer your questions. Do not hesitate to contact me at any time if you have any questions about this recommendation.
